

August 22, 2013

Dear OneClickdigital customer,

I want to take this opportunity to remind you of the OneClickdigital upgrade taking place this weekend, starting Saturday, August 24 at 6:00 AM EDT and ending Monday, August 26 at 8:00 AM EDT. During this time, your library's OneClickdigital service will be unavailable, and your patrons will not have access to your collections. Once OneClickdigital returns to service, all patron-specific holds and checkout periods will still be in place.

As mentioned in previous announcements, the reason for this scheduled maintenance is to make the system compatible with eBooks. We are pleased to announce that when your library's OneClickdigital service reactivates on Monday, your library and all your patrons will have FREE eBooks available for immediate checkout. This Starter Collection will consist of classic titles available with unlimited simultaneous access, so patrons can begin experiencing OneClickdigital eBooks without any holds or waiting lists.

These titles are just the beginning of the eBook collection that will become available for your library. Once OneClickdigital returns to service, more than 40,000 titles will become available for individual purchase through your administrative portal. Any eBooks you purchase will automatically be added to your current OneClickdigital platform and will be indicated with a small eBook icon when searching. Other than the title's purchase price, there are no additional fees associated with the introduction of eBooks to your current service.
